Tiger Woods birdies the first playoff hole to beat Chris DiMarco and win his fourth green jacket. He joins Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as the only players to win at least four Masters titles. He had 16 birdies and 1986, is one of three golfers to successfully defend his title. He is also one of five champions to win wire-to-wire, in 1972. The Masters Tournament is a golf competition that was established in 1934, with Horton Smith winning the inaugural tournament. [1] The Masters is the first of four major championships to be played each year, with the final round of the Masters always being scheduled for the second Sunday in April.[2] The Masters is the only one of the four majors to use the same course every year: the Augusta National Golf Club.[3] Masters champions are automatically invited to play in the other three majors (the U.S. Open, the Open Championship (British Open), and the PGA Championship) for the next five years, and earn a lifetime invitation to the Masters. They also receive membership on the PGA Tour for the five years following their victory.[4] The champion also receives the "Green Jacket", the first one being won by Sam Snead in 1949. The champion takes the jacket home for a year and returns it thereafter. A multiple-time champion will only have one jacket unless his size changes dramatically.[5] Jack Nicklaus holds the record for the most Masters victories, winning the tournament six times during his career. Nicklaus is also the oldest winner of the Masters: he was 46 years 82 days old when he won in 1986.[6] Nicklaus, Nick Faldo, and Tiger Woods co-hold the record for most consecutive victories with two. Woods was the youngest winning margin (12 strokes). The lowest winning score, with 268, 20-under-par, was scored by Dustin Johnson in 2020.[7] The highest winning score of 289 (+1) was originally set by Sam Snead in 1954, it was equalled by Jack Burke Jr. in 1956, and Zach Johnson in 2007.[8] Five golfers have won the Masters wire-to-wire: Craig Wood in 1941, Arnold Palmer in 1960, Nicklaus in 1972, Raymond Floyd in 1976, and Jordan Spieth in 2015.[9] Other players have led wire-to-wire if ties after a round are included, most recently Dustin Johnson in the 2020 Masters Tournament with a score of (-11). Arnold Palmer, four-time Masters Champion 1958, 1960, 1962, and 1964. He is one of five champions to win wire-to-wire with his victory in 1960. Tiger Woods, five-time Masters Champion in 1947, 2001, 2002, 2005, and 2019. Tiger is one of three golfers to successfully defend his title Sam Snead, three-time Masters Champion in 1961, 1974, and 1978, and the first non-American to win the tournament. Nick Faldo, three-time Masters Champion in 1989, 1990, and 1996, and is one of three golfers to successfully defend his title Phil Mickelson, three-time Masters Tournament won in a playoff Masters Tournament champions Year Country Champion Total score To par[10][a] Notes 1934 United

Olympic Games 2024 Paris Individual Scott Alexander Scheffler (born June 21, 1996)[1] is an American professional golfer who plays on the PGA Tour. He is currently ranked world number one in the Official World Golf Ranking, and has held that position for over 100 weeks.[3] He has won two major championships, both the 2022 and 2024 Masters Tournament. Scheffler had a successful amateur career, including victory at the U.S. Junior Amateur in 2013 and low-amateur honors at the 2017 U.S. Open. Having turned professional in 2018, he was named Korn Ferry Tour Player of the Year in 2019 and PGA Tour Rookie of the Year in 2020. He had a breakout season in 2022; in the span of three months, he recorded his first victory on the PGA Tour, rose to world number one, and won his first major championship at the 2024 Masters Tournament. Scheffler won The Players Championship at the 2024 Masters Tournament. and won the gold medal in the men's individual tournament at the 2024 Summer Olympics. Scheffler was born in Ridgewood, New Jersey, on June 21, 1996. His father, Scott, grew up in Englewood Cliffs, and his mother's side and German descent on his father's side.[7] His grandfather was a veteran of the U.S. military who served in the Korean War.[8][9] Scheffler was the only boy among four children. His sisters are named Callie, Molly and Sara.[10] The family lived in Montvale, New Jersey, until Scheffler was aged six, when they moved to Dallas, Texas, in the wake of the September 11 attacks.
[11] Scott was a carpenter who became a stay-at-home dad,[12][13] while Diane worked as a business manager at the law firm Skadden in New York City,[14] and later as a chief operating officer at the law firm Thompson & Knight in Dallas.[15] Scheffler's interest in golf began at age three, when his parents gave him a set of plastic clubs and ball.
 [15] He practiced as a child by hitting ping-pong balls inside his home, curving the ball from one room to the next. [16] While living in New Jersey, Scheffler frequently asked his father to take him to the 9W Driving Range near the Hudson River. In winter, Scheffler frequently asked his father to take him to the 9W Driving Range near the Hudson River. to Dallas, his parents borrowed $50,000 to join Royal Oaks Country Club,[14] where Scheffler also learned from professional golfers such as Justin Leonard, Ryan Palmer, Colt Knost, and Harrison Frazar. He watched them as they practiced, and from the age of nine would challenge them to chipping and putting contests.[17] He had prolific success at the youth level, and won 90 of the 136 tournaments he played on the Northern Texas PGA junior circuit, competing against the likes of fellow Dallas-area golfer Will Zalatoris.[18][19] Entering high school, Scheffler was barely 5 feet (1.5 m) in height, but experienced a large growth spurt and soon measured over 6 feet (1.8 m) tall.[18][20] He played golf and basketball at Highland Park High School in the Dallas enclave of University Park. At Highland Park, Scheffler won individual state titles three years in a row (2012 to 2014), matching a record set by fellow Texan Jordan Spieth. He also had success in AJGA events, and won the 2013 U.S. Junior Amateur, defeating Davis Riley 3 and 2.[21] Scheffler was the top-ranked junior golfer in the country in 2014,[18] and in April 2014 he won the Junior Invitational at Sage Valley.[22] He made his PGA Tour debut in May 2014, as a 17-year-old amateur at the HP Byron Nelson Championship. With his sister Callie caddying for him, he made the cut. He recorded a hole-in-one in the third round and ultimately finished at 4-under-par, in a tie for 22nd place. He was ineligible for the $60,000 payout due to his amateur status. [23] Scheffler was then recruited to play golf for the Texas Longhorns at the University of Texas at Austin beginning in fall 2014. He won his first individual collegiate title, the Western Intercollegiate title, the Western Intercollegiate held at Pasatiempo Golf Club, in April 2015.[24] Two weeks later, he won the Big 12 Individual Championship held at Southern Hills Country Club.[25] He was named 2015 "Phil Mickelson Freshman of the Year" and Big 12 Newcomer of the Year due to these performances. [26] He struggled with back injuries during his sophomore season, and recorded only one top-10 finish. [20] Texas Longhorns golf coach John Fields said Scheffler was still adapting to his physical growth: "He's gone from 5-foot-2, 100 pounds in eighth grade to almost 6-foot-4, 200 pounds just six years later."[26] In June 2016, Scheffler qualified for his first U.S. Open. He opened with a first-round 69 and held the overnight clubhouse lead,[27] but shot a second-round 78 to miss the cut by one stroke. He was then selected to represent the United States at the 2016 Eisenhower Trophy in September,[28] and won the East Lake Cup held at East Lake Golf Club in October.[29] Scheffler again qualified for the U.S. Open in 2017, after surviving a 4-for-3 playoff to earn a spot in the field.[30] He and Cameron Champ were the only two amateurs to make the cut at the 2017 U.S. Open.[31] Scheffler finished as low amateur at 1-under-par, one stroke ahead of Champ.[32] He was also part of the U.S. team that won the 2017 Walker Cup, where he defeated Connor Syme in the Sunday singles.[33] Scheffler became a member of the Texas at Austin's McCombs School of Business in 2018 with a bachelor's degree in finance.[20][36] In December 2018, Scheffler earned his 2019 Web.com Tour card through qualifying school.[37] On May 26, 2019, Scheffler fired a bogey-free, 9-under 63—playing the back nine in 30—to force a playoff with 54-hole leader Marcelo Rozo in the Evans Scholars Invitational. He then birdied the second extra hole for his first Web.com Tour victory.[38] On August 18, 2019, Scheffler won the Nationwide Children's Hospital Championship in Columbus, Ohio. Scheffler shot 4-under 67 in the final round at Ohio State University's Scarlet Course for a two-shot victory. He totaled a 12-under 272 for the week and finished two shots ahead of Brendon Todd, Beau Hossler and Ben Taylor. This event was part of the Korn Ferry Tour Finals (the Web.com Tour was renamed the Korn Ferry Tour in mid-season).[39] Scheffler led both the Finals points list to earn a fully exempt PGA Tour card for the 2020 season.[40] He was later named Korn Ferry Tour Player of the Year.[41] In his first start of 2020, Scheffler was tied for the lead alongside Andrew Landry after three rounds at The American Express. A final-round 70 saw Scheffler finish third, three shots behind Landry.[42] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] On August 21, 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] On August 21, 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 2020 PGA Championship.[43] In August 2020, Scheffler finished tied for fourth at the 20

March 2021 at the WGC Match Play. He was defeated by Billy Horschel, 2 and 1, in the final, [46] At the 2021 Masters Tournament, Scheffler tied for 18th. He then posted top-10 finishes at each of the three other majors: tied-8th at the 2021 PGA Championship, tied-7th at the 2021 U.S. Open, and tied-8th at the 2021 Open Championship, [47] In September 2021, Scheffler was named as a captain's pick by Steve Stricker for the U.S. team in the 2021 Ryder Cup at Whistling Straits in Kohler, Wisconsin. The U.S. team won 19-9 and Scheffler went 2-0-1 including a win in his Sunday singles match against world number one Jon Rahm.[48] Later that fall, he switched caddies, replacing Scott McGuinness with Bubba Watson's former caddie, Ted Scott.[49][50] On February 13, 2022, Scheffler won his first ever PGA Tour title at the WM Phoenix Open on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff against Patrick Cantlay.[51] Three weeks later, Scheffler won his second career PGA Tour title at the Arnold Palmer Invitational in Orlando, Florida He won by one stroke over Viktor Hovland, Billy Horschel and Tyrrell Hatton. [52] Three weeks after that, Scheffler won the WGC-Dell Technologies Match Play in Austin, Texas, defeating Kevin Kisner in the final match. With this win, Scheffler won the Masters Tournament, defeating Rory McIlroy by three strokes. Scheffler became the fifth golfer to enter the Masters Tournament ranked No. 1 in the world and go on to win the Masters Tournament ranked No. 1 in the world and go on to win the Masters, joining Ian Woosnam (1991), Fred Couples (1992), Tiger Woods (2001, 2002) and Dustin Johnson (2020).[54] The victory was his fourth for the 2022 PGA Tour season, making him the first golfer since Arnold Palmer in 1960, and only the second ever, to win as many events including the Masters in that span of time to begin a season. The Masters was his fourth win in 6 starts.[55][56] At the 2022 PGA Championship, he missed the cut by two shots.[57] On May 29, 2022, Scheffler lost the Charles Schwab Challenge in a playoff to Sam Burns after Burns made a 38-foot birdie putt.[58] At the U.S. Open, he finished T-2, one stroke behind the winner Matt Fitzpatrick. Entering the 2022 Tour Championship as the leader in the FedEx Cup standings, Scheffler started the tournament in first place with a 2-stroke lead in the starting strokes format. He extended his lead to 6 strokes after 54 holes, but shot a 3-over-par 73 in the final round to lose the tournament by one stroke to Rory McIlroy. This tied Scheffler was named 2022 PGA Tour Player of the Year, earning the Jack Nicklaus Award for the first time [61] Scheffler qualified for the U.S. team at the 2022 Presidents Cup; he lost three of the four matches he played, tying the other. [62] In February 2023, Scheffler successfully defended his title at the WM Phoenix Open. He shot a final round 6-under 65 to beat Nick Taylor by two strokes. With the win, Scheffler returned to number one in the Official World Golf Ranking.[63] In March, Scheffler won The Players Championship by five strokes and regained the number one ranking in the Official World Golf Ranking for the second time in the year. It was the largest margin of victory in The Players Championship since Stephen Ames won by six in 2006.[64] Scheffler joined Tiger Woods and Jack Nicklaus as the only players to win the Masters Tournament and The Players Championship in a 12-month span. [65] As the defending champion at the 2023 Masters Tournament in April, Scheffler finished tied-10th. [66] At the 2023 Masters Tournament and The Players Championship in a 12-month span. Championship as the leader in the FedEx Cup standings, [70] which gave him a starting score of 10-under-par, and a two strokes behind the winner, Hovland. [71] In September, Scheffler played on the U.S. team in the 2023 Ryder Cup at Marco Simone Golf and Country Club in Rome, Italy. The European team won 16.5-11.5 and Scheffler went 0-2-2, including a tie in his Sunday singles match against Jon Rahm.[72] In the Saturday morning foursome match, the European pair Ludvig Åberg and Viktor Hovland defeated Scheffler and Brooks Koepka 9 and 7, the biggest victory in an 18-hole match in Ryder Cup history.[73] In December, Scheffler won the Hero World Challenge, an unofficial event on the PGA Tour with a 20-man field. He had finished as runner-up in both of the previous two years at the tournament.[74][75] In March, Scheffler won the Arnold Palmer Invitational for the second time in his career. Scheffler ended the week at Bay Hill 15-under par, the lowest score since Rory McIlroy's 2018 win.[76] The following week, Scheffler won The Players Championship to become the first back-to-back winner in the event's history. Scheffler shot an 8-under 64 in the final round to overcome a five shot deficit, matching the largest comeback by a Players Championship winner at TPC Sawgrass.
[77] In his next start at the Houston Open, Scheffler had a chance to win three events in a row. He was in the final group on Sunday and had a birdie putt from six feet on the 18th green to force a playoff. He missed the putt and finished in second place, one stroke behind Stephan Jäger. time in three years. He finished 11-under par for the championship, winning by 4 shots over Ludvig Åberg of Sweden. Scheffler additionally joined Tiger Woods and Jack Nicklaus as the only players to have multiple victories at both the Players Championship and the Masters.[80] One week later, he followed up his Masters victory with a win at the RBC Heritage for his 4th win in five starts.[81] At the 2024 PGA Championship at Valhalla Golf Club, Scheffler opened with a round of 67. On Friday morning prior to his second round, Scheffler was arrested after a traffic incident but was released in time to return to the course and shoot 66. However, in the third round, Scheffler broke his streak of 42 consecutive rounds of par-or-better on the PGA Tour with a two-over 73. He eventually finished the tournament tied 8th. [82][83][84] In his next start, Scheffler was in the final group on Sunday at the Charles Schwab Challenge. He ultimately finished runner-up, five strokes behind Davis Riley. [85][86] In June, Scheffler won the Memorial Tournament for his fifth win on the season. The win pushed him over $24 million in earnings for the year, breaking the PGA Tour before the U.S.
Open.[87] Two weeks later, Scheffler defeated Tom Kim in a sudden-death playoff at the Travelers Championship to claim his sixth win on the season. This made him the first to have won six times before July since Arnold Palmer in 1962.[88][89] As the number one player in the world rankings, Scheffler qualified as one of the four male golfers to represent the United States at the 2024 Paris Olympics in golf.[90] On August 4, he tied the course record at Le Golf National with a final-round 62 to finish at 19-under and win the gold medal.[91][92] Scheffler, who was six strokes behind the lead after the front nine, made six birdies on the back nine to win by one stroke over Tommy Fleetwood. [93][94] At the 2024 Tour Championship held at East Lake Golf Club, Scheffler entered as the leader in the FedEx Cup title of his career. [95] This made him the first player since Tiger Woods in 2007 to record a seven-win season on the PGA Tour,[96][97] and earned him $25 million bonus for leading the regular-season standings and his $29 million official prize money, this brought Scheffler's total on-course earnings for the season to $62 million.[100][101] In December 2024, Scheffler won the Hero World Challenge for the second straight year, He finished at 25-under 263 to tie the tournament record at Albany Golf Course first set by Bubba Watson in 2015.[102] This was his ninth win of the year, although neither the Olympics or Hero World Challenge count as official PGA Tour wins.
[103] Scheffler was named 2024 PGA Tour Player of the Year, earning the Jack Nicklaus Award for the third consecutive season, the first to do so since Tiger Woods in 2005-2007.[104][105] Later in December, Scheffler paired with Rory McIlroy against Brooks Koepka and Bryson Dechambeau in an edition of The Match billed as a showdown between the PGA Tour and LIV Golf. Scheffler and McIlroy won the 18-hole, match-play contest.[106][107] Scheffler missed the first few weeks of the 2025 season due to injuring his right hand while making Christmas dinner. He underwent surgery to remove shards of glass from his palm and was unable to practice golf during the recovery.[108] As the two-time defending champion at the 2025 Players Championship in March, he finished in a tie for 20th. [10] In his title defense at the 2025 Masters Tournament in April, Scheffler placed solo-fourth. [111] In May, Scheffler recorded his first victory of the season at the CJ Cup Byron Nelson,[112] winning by eight strokes over Erik van Rooyen. Scheffler met his wife, Meredith (née Scudder), in high school. They married in 2020.[114] On May 8, 2024, their first child was born, a son, Bennett.[115] [116] Scheffler and his family reside in Dallas.[117] Scheffler was raised Catholic.[118][119] His sponsor for his confirmation in the Catholic Church was Rocky Hambric, founder of Hambric Sports, a sports management agency. Scheffler's mother stated that "Scottie really thinks of Rocky as his godfather", and he has been a client of Hambric Sports since he turned professional. Scheffler's agent at Hambric is Blake Smith, son of Scheffler's swing coach Randy Smith, 191 As of 2022. Scheffler is a member of Park Cities Presbyterian Church, the and his wife Meredith also became supporters of Behind Every Door, a Christian non-profit organization that provides support to low-income areas in Dallas. Meredith is a director at Behind Every Door.[120][121] Scheffler attends Bible study with his caddie for Bubba Watson for 15 years. When requesting Scott to be his caddie, Scheffler and his close friend Sam Burns co-host an annual retreat with members of the College Golf Fellowship, a faith-based ministry.[123] Scheffler appeared in the sports documentary series Full Swing, which premiered on Netflix in February 2023.[124] He made a cameo appearance in the 2025 film Happy Gilmore 2, a sequel to Happy Gilmore (1996).[125] In August 2023, Scheffler became an investor in the Texas Ranchers, a pickleball team.[126] Later that year, he competed in an exhibition match with former tennis player John Isner and pickleball team.[127] On May 17, 2024, Scheffler was arrested at 6:20 a.m. near Valhalla Golf Club, the venue of the 2024 PGA Championship.
[128] He was charged with second-degree assault of a police officer, a class-C felony, and three misdemeanors: third-degree criminal mischief, reckless driving, and disregarding traffic signals from an officer directing traffic signals from dropped on May 29. Both Scheffler and the Louisville Metro Police Department agreed to not pursue legal action related to his arrest.[131] Prosecutor Mike O'Connell stated that Scheffler's characterization of the incident as "'a big misunderstanding' is corroborated by the evidence."[132] 2011 Legends Junior Match Play Championship 2013 U.S.
